Easter Holidays Activities

Here are some ideas of things you might like to do during the holidays.

I would love to see some photos if you do try any of these suggestions.

Match half an egg

Make some card or paper egg shapes.

Draw some patterns on the eggs. If you have some colouring pencils or crayons you could make colourful lines or squiggles. But different thickness patterns and designs using a pencil will work just as well.

Then cut the eggs in half.

Hide 1 half of each egg.

Share out the remaining halves.

Who can find the other half to recreate the original egg?

Put on a show.

This could be:

a fashion show

a dance show

a singing show

act out your favourite story or film

Make an Easter Bonnet or Easter Hat.

You could use to decorate one of your hats, or use a strip of paper like the crowns we made in school at Christmas.

Play sleeping bunnies!

Pretend to be asleep in your burrow. When the bunny wakes up it needs to hop, hop hop.

You could pretend to be other animals. What actions/movements will they do when they wake up?

Make your own Easter Dominoes.

Draw lots of egg shapes.

Draw a line to divide each egg in half.

Draw dots (up to 6) at the top and the bottom of the egg.

Have fun playing dominoes.

Make a den.

Have fun, using pillows, blankets and other household items. This could be really small den just for you, or huge den for you and your whole family.

Name the animals

Draw some baby animals. What are the baby animals called?

What are the adult animals called?

Egg and Spoon Race (without running or using an egg!)

Find some teaspoons or larger spoons, so you can have one each.

Find some objects which will fit in the different size spoons.

Set up a start and finish line.

Balance the objects in the spoon.

Who can carry the object across the line without running or dropping it?

Change the course, add in some obstacles to go around, or under.

Have fun and remember to keep safe.
